

Freestyle Libre - how will we use your information?

When you are using your blood glucose metre, you are giving us information about yourself. You tell us your name, address, and blood sugar levels

We will keep your information safe. We will only use your information to keep you well.

We share your information with people involved in your diabetes care. We will not use your information for anything else.

We have a data protection policy. The policy says how we use your information.
